Cycling in Severn Valley Country Park

The Mercian Way is part of route 45 of the National Cycle Network and passes straight through the middle of the park. Running from Bewdley to Bridgnorth and beyond, route 45 covers rural lane and off road tracks to take visitors into a world of unspoilt riverside, woods and meadows. Riding through the park you have the unique opportunity to cycle in parallel to the vintage steam trains of the Severn Valley Railway. It is the perfect safe, family-friendly, traffic free environment. Click here for more information about the Mercian Way.

The Shropshire Cycleway East: Severn takes cyclists on a journey from Telford through Ironbridge, Bridgnorth, the country park and on towards Cleobury Mortimer. It takes you through the beautiful landscape of the Severn Valley and passes by the country park. The full Shropshire Cycleway route is a 185 mile route around Shropshire's border. Click here for more information about the Shropshire Cycleway. There is a bike rack located outside the visitor centre, to enable cyclists to enjoy a well-deserved break in the Severn Valley Country Park cafe.

Riding in Severn Valley Country Park

The Jack Mytton Way comprises of over 100 miles of rural bridleways and quiet country lanes. The trail passes near to the park at Highley and riders can divert from their trek to enjoy some time with us. Through the park there is a public bridleway and riders are invited to use our other surfaced paths. In 2013, a project undertaken by our volunteers to transform a section of the park into a wild flower meadow included the addition of a new bridleway from our car parking area.

Mounting blocks are located at either end of the Miner's Bridge for rider's convenience and horses can be safely tethered in our yard whilst riders visit our teasop and centre. Please ask staff on site for more details. More details about the Jack Mytton Way can be found here.
